Top Ten Things to Consider when Preparing for In-Service and Certifying Examinations
Webinar for Residents

Wednesday, October 14th
12:00pm—1:00 pm (EST) - Live

To participate, visit: http://msu.zoom.us/j/738371607
Registration is NOT required to participate.

Join Dr. Donald Sefcik, MSUCOM Senior Associate Dean and author of How to Study for Standardized Tests, for a webinar designed specifically to improve your examination performance.

During a 45-minute presentation, Dr. Sefcik will share test-taking strategies that top performers use to excel on their exams. Participants will gain insight into how item-writers design test questions and practice test-taking skills that will improve examination scores.

The webinar will conclude with a 15-minute Q&A session.

Whether you’re just starting to prepare for your exam or your test date is mere weeks away, all residents can benefit from this insightful presentation.

Registration is not required.
To participate, visit: http://scs.msu.edu/events/ALL/14593/
the day of the webinar.

Dr. Donald Sefcik is the Senior Associate Dean in the College of Osteopathic Medicine at Michigan State University in East Lansing, MI. Dr. Sefcik is board certified in both Emergency Medicine and Family Practice, and a Fellow in both specialty colleges. Don is Chair of the Board of the Michigan Health Council (MHC) and Co-Chair of Michigan State University’s Advisory Board for Faculty and Organizational Development (F&OD). He is a Past Chair of the American Osteopathic Association’s (AOA) Bureau of Osteopathic Medical Educators (BOME), Past Chair of AACOM’s Society of Osteopathic Medical Educators (SOME) Steering Committee, Past Chair of the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA), and a Past President of the Illinois Osteopathic Medical Society (IOMS). In 2012, Dr. Sefcik’s book How to Study for Standardized Tests was published by Jones & Bartlett Learning.